

Room no. 02

01.

On average, this multinational company has added two stores on a regular basis since it has been founded. What's special about this company is that it spends more on medical insurances for its employees than on its product itself. This company entered into a joint venture with Tata Consumer Products Limited after launching in India. Guess the mythical entity their original logo was based on to move on to the next room!

02.

Initially funded by Jeff Bezos, this company was founded by a college dropout and a co-founder of StumbleUpon in the year 2009. Out of the many services it provides, well one literally made it possible to cuddle with kittens on the go. Interestingly enough, there is a World Record collaboration with a famous YouTuber back in 2017. Can you guess the name of the YouTube channel?

03.

This multi-billion-dollar company wasn't always the financial biggy it is today. What started off as a massively multiplayer online adventure game roughly 2 decades ago, is partnered by tech giants like Netflix, Uber, IBM, and Dropbox today. Recipient of the Crunchies Award, can you guess the name of the company which acquired the platform in 2021?